LETTER FROM THE DEAN

Dear Health Sciences Graduates,

Today marks a very important milestone, and like the many faculty members who guided you on this journey, I'm proud of all of you and the many accomplishments you've achieved during your time at the GW School of Medicine and Health Sciences (SMHS). As we look forward, I'm excited to learn how you will build on your GW education and experiences—and I'm grateful for your commitment to the future of health care.

In preparing for this moment, I was reflecting on your class and your unique path to success. Four years ago, the world seemed to change overnight. The onset of the pandemic disrupted almost every aspect of day-to-day life—including a reset on how you've pursued your education and research, culminating with your GW degree. Despite these challenges, you have risen to meet them. I know the members of the Class of 2024 are resilient, determined and dedicated. Most of all, I know you are well-prepared to help solve seemingly intractable problems.

In the coming days as you take the next steps in your careers, I hope that you will keep your minds open and continue to grow, learn, care and contribute to the health care professions. I'm confident that you will have a significant, positive impact on the patients you serve directly or indirectly—in whatever health care professional domain you enter to improve the health and wellness of our local, national, and global communities.

On behalf of SMHS, I wish you all the best on your graduation day. I hope you will stay engaged with the School, and I welcome you to our GW alumni family.

Warmest regards,

LETTER FROM THE DEAN

Dear Health Sciences Graduates,

On behalf of the faculty and staff of the George Washington University, I extend a heartfelt congratulations to each of our graduates. We acknowledge the dedication and applaud the accomplishments that culminated in the successful completion of your degree. The mission of GW Health Sciences is to drive innovation and quality in health and health care delivery through education, scholarship, and service. We are grateful for the ways you embraced that mission and helped shape a community that values cultural and intellectual diversity. You did all of that with integrity, creativity, and innovation and we were privileged to partner with you and learn from each of you during your time with us as a student.

During your time at GW, you pursued skills that prepared you to provide excellent and compassionate care, lead teams in a range of environments, and conduct research critical to the advancement of our collective future. Success is rarely a single story. Reach out and thank the family and friends who provided support during your journey. Pay it forward by supporting others working to reach their goals and aspirations. Become a role model for those who are following in your footsteps. Continue to pursue knowledge, recognize your limitations, and be an agent of positive change.

Today, you become part of the university and school's alumni family. The GW family is stronger and more dynamic because of your talents, passion, and capabilities. You are the future of health sciences and a central force in building a better future in health care. We look forward to hearing how you have furthered your academic journey and used your skills and talents to change our communities, locally and globally. Your faculty and mentors are eager to continue to be part of your building network – stay in touch!

Along with all the faculty and staff in the School of Medicine and Health Sciences, I offer again my congratulations and wish you every success in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,
